

STATE RESTED CASE AT NOON

Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson, Accused Of Murdering Her Husband, On Verge Of Collapse.

DEFENSE WILL NOW HAVE INNINGS

Presen is Same Of The Most Dramatic Elements Of Any Trial Held In New York State In Many Years.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
LYONS, N. Y., April 9.—The state rested its case this noon in the trial of Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson, charged with the murder of her husband, Harry Sampson, and the defense will now have their innings. It is thought that they will attempt to prove Mrs. Sampson was not down stairs when her husband was killed. The dramatic.

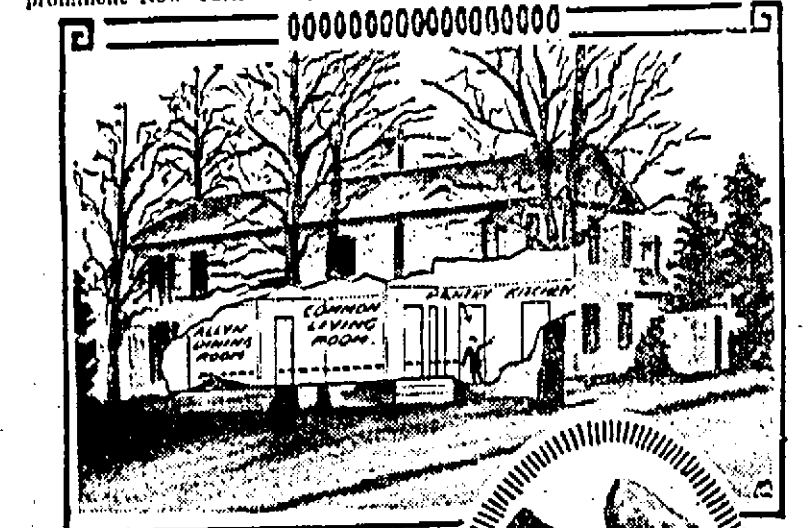

The trial presents some of the most dramatic incidents in the criminal annals of New York state. She is charged with the murder of her husband, Harry Sampson, a nephew of the late admiral, and the home of the Sampsons at Macedon, N. Y., where the shooting took place.

whole district has taken up sides in the matter.

Was Up Stairs.
Her defense will be based on her claim that she was in the second story of the house when the shooting occurred, and that it was suicide. This was borne out by the statement which her mother overheard Harry make to the effect that he would rather die than live another day with Georgia. The shooting occurred after a quarrel between the husband and wife, over some correspondence she had with a friend in Rochester.

Last November.
The shooting of Sampson occurred at Macedon, 10 miles from here, on November 1. Members of the Allyn family, with whom Harry Sampson and his wife lived, heard a shot coming from the lower floor. Running down they found Sampson stretched out on the floor, with a sandwich clutched in his fingers.

The letter.

The contents of this letter proved to be most interesting as it proved to be an invitation for Mrs. Sampson to join a male friend at Niagara Falls for a good time. This was brought out when the parents of the prisoner were placed on the stand by the state to testify against their own daughter.

GOOD FRIDAY IN THE LARGE CITIES

In Accordance With Tradition Stock Exchange In New York and Chicago Were Closed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, April 9.—Good Friday was marked this year in the manner traditional in New York, by a practical suspension of all business in the financial district and by elaborate services in many of the churches. The stock exchanges of the city—New York stock, Consolidated stock, Cotton, Coffee, Produce and Metal—were closed for the rest of the week, to reopen Monday.

Good Friday In Chicago.
Chicago, April 9.—Chicago observed Good Friday with the closing of the exchanges and banks and with services in the Catholic churches and in numerous Protestant churches.

HITCHCOCK DIED IN WASHINGTON TODAY

Former Secretary of the Interior Passes Away at Nation's Capital.

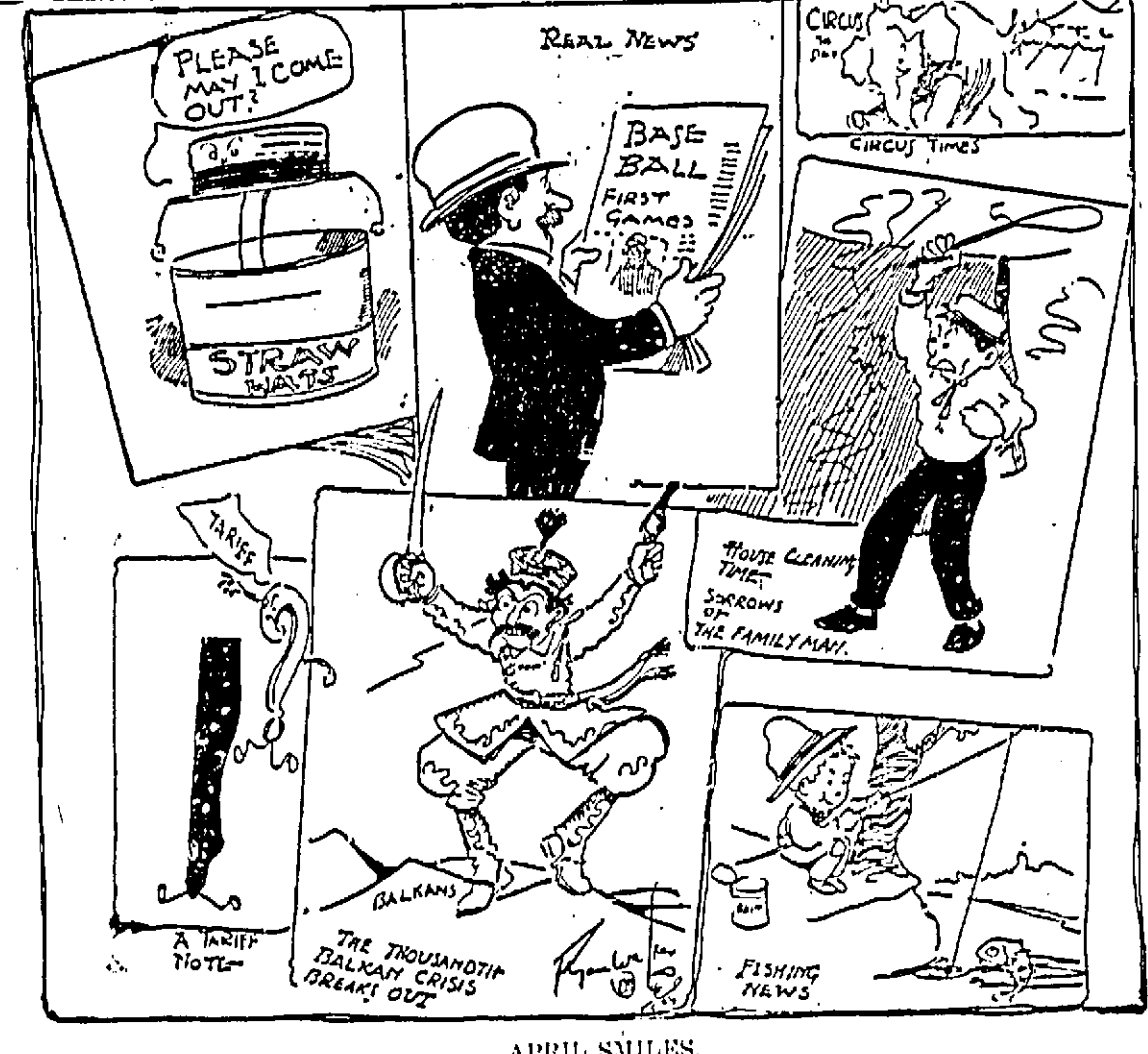

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., April 9.—Ethan Allen Hitchcock, secretary of the interior under McKinley and Roosevelt, died this morning, aged seventy-four. He had been critically ill for some days.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock was secretary of the interior since early in 1891. He was born in Mobile, Ala., September 19, 1835. He was a great-grandson of Ethan Allen, the leader of "The Green Mountain Boys." As a young man Mr. Hitchcock settled in St. Louis and engaged in mercantile business until 1860, when he went to China as representative of a business firm in which he soon after became a partner. He always took an active interest in politics and in 1887 he was appointed United States Minister to Russia, which post he resigned to enter the cabinet of President McKinley.

Very democratic, though a man of great wealth, and all in all was regarded as an excellent representative of the enlightenment, progress and industry of the great West beyond the Mississippi.

Business sessions extending over several days will be devoted to the consideration of the annual reports, the election of officers for the year and the transaction of much other business of a routine nature.

LEOPOLD SEVENTY-FOUR YEARS OLD

Belgium's Monarch In Excellent Health And Is One Of Hardest Working Kings In Europe.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
BRUSSELS, April 9.—Seemingly in better health than he has enjoyed for some time, King Leopold today entered upon his seventy-fourth year. In spite of his birthday anniversary as usual by putting in a day of hard work, for the King, despite his love for pleasure, is one of the hardest workers among the crowned heads of Europe.

Of late King Leopold has manifested a gratifying tendency to abandon the irresponsible life which for many years was a source of more or less shame and humiliation to his subjects. As a result he has regained some of the love and respect with which the Belgians regarded him during the first twenty years of his reign.

King Leopold is, perhaps, the busiest man in his kingdom. He professes a profound contempt for idleness, is never at rest, and works like a Trojan. At Laeken, the King's habitual residence, he rises at five o'clock in summer and a little later in winter. His bedroom is plainly furnished, well ventilated and comfortable. It is the bedroom of a man in good health, who has recourse as rarely as possible to his physician.

Immediately after completing his toilet the King takes a brisk walk in the Laeken Palace gardens. At seven o'clock Leopold is already at his desk, busily engaged in the work of examining the contents of the mail bags brought from Brussels by couriers on bicycles or on horseback. The King answers his correspondents briefly and if the case requires it promises a more detailed reply later on. At half-past seven a carriage arrives regularly from the royal stables in Brussels, containing whatever articles may have been ordered by the King or his household, and also another voluminous correspondence, which the King carefully reads over before breakfast.

After this he immediately sets to work again in his study, where he remains until half-past nine, when he takes a "constitutional," accompanied by an orderly officer. The King returns to the Palace at about eleven o'clock.

In the meantime another post has arrived from Brussels, with several ministerial communications and reports, the contents of which the King immediately acquaints himself with. This duty accomplished, Leopold takes another short walk, or if the weather is bad, a horseback ride in the Laeken meadows.

Thus it will be seen that the King's daily routine life is a hard and active one. It is owing to this regular and active life that Leopold II. retained his health and an amount of youthful vigor and energy quite remarkable for a man of his age. The somewhat unusual arrangement of his everyday life—being an almost equal intermingling of physical exercise and intellectual labor—suits the King because he works rapidly and makes prompt decisions. This, added to his encyclopaedic range of knowledge, enables him to perform in two hours an amount of work that the ordinary man would take a day to accomplish.

Take Up The Different Portions of The Payne Tariff Measure In Their Order.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
WASHINGTON, April 9.—The House adopted the committee's amendment to the Payne bill increasing the rate on barley from 15 to 24 cents per bushel. Also the amendment intended to prevent the use of drawback privileges for the purpose of speculating in grains.

At three o'clock the House began voting on the Payne tariff bill. The committee amendments with the exception of those affecting tea, coffee, barley, barley malt were adopted in a lump and without division. The committee's amendment, placing tea on the free list, was adopted without restriction.

FAILED TO AGREE; MINERS NOT TO WORK

Mining May Be Suspended In Three Hard Coal Districts Because Operators And Miners Did Not Agree.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 9.—The anthracite operators and miners have failed to reach any agreement today and finally adjourned. The officials of the United Mine Workers of three anthracite districts will hold a meeting this afternoon to decide upon a course of action. There will be no strike and the only danger to the pension of miners, according to the mine workers' officials, arising from the refusal of operators to permit the miners to work without an agreement.

IMPROVE ROADS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

Use of the King Road Drag Makes Country Road Resemble a City Boulevard.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
MONTICELLO, April 8.—W. C. Baumgartner and Henry T. Hefty, farmers of Washington township, have been putting the King road-drag to the test and they are getting the best kind of results. They drag on a stretch of road about a mile and one-half in length and it is said to be almost as smooth as a city boulevard.

Little Herman Marty had the ends of the four fingers of his left hand badly crushed by getting them caught in the heavy doors at his father's hardware store.

The members of Monticello Union Lodge 155, Free and Accepted Masons, were greatly pleased and honored at their meeting Tuesday evening, when they were favored with a visit by the grand master of the state of Wisconsin, J. E. Durkin of Racine.

E. D. Frantuch, the photographer, is now the owner of the Isaac Dahler farm of 67½ acres, just south of the village, having come into possession of the same for a consideration of $110 per acre.

A. Wullemmeier, the jeweler, has opened up for business in the south room of the E. L. Bahler building, where he is showing a very nice line of watches, clocks, jewelry, silverware, cut glass, etc.

Chas. Plummer and family of Onondaga, Wis., have taken up their residence in the village, occupying the stone house on West street. Mr. Plummer is the representative of the Lawless Medicine Co. for this territory.

W. C. Maske, local agent for the Illinois Central, departed Tuesday evening for Vicksburg, Miss., and other points in the south.

The residence of H. J. Juhnet in the south part of town was struck by lightning during the electrical storm Monday night. The bolt struck and shattered the chimney, passing down the house, doing more or less damage to four rooms.

Miss Martha McGoon, the dressmaker, is moving today into rooms in the Mrs. Jane Richards house.

Lloyd Clarke and wife, who have resided on the Knight farm the past two years, are moving to the vicinity of Monroe, where they have rented a forty-acre farm.

Walter Freitag and family have vacated the house owned by Mrs. Lena Zwickey on West street, and moved to the Jane Richards house.

Mrs. Abrecht Halber has been seriously ill at her home on Prospect avenue since last Wednesday, when she sustained an injury to one of her limbs as the result of a fall.

Lewis Thompson, who was called here to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Pember, departed Tuesday morning for his home at Britt, Iowa.

Mrs. David Hefty and daughter of New Glarus are here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John Easter party is to take place at Butterfield's hall on Monday evening next, April 12th.

Mrs. Mary Robinson of St. Louis departed for her home after a pleasant visit here with friends.

The Percy Holloway farm in Washington township was sold to Julius Hinesetter, consideration, $7,200. The farm consists of eighty acres.

Albert Steller was in town from Fremont yesterday.

John Davis of Holleville had business here yesterday.

THIEVES WORK QUICKLY IN PLAIN SIGHT OF MANY PERSONS ON THE STREET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 9.—In broad daylight and in plain sight of hundreds of neighbors and passers-by two men stole $2,500 worth of furs from the store of Chas. Coplin, 457 12th street and leisurely loaded and drove away in a waiting wagon and drove away with it. No arrests have been made and there is but slender clue as to the identity of the robbers. The theft was committed at seven o'clock this morning.

WHAT ATHLETES ARE DOING AT VARSITY

Track Work, Baseball and Plans for Next Year's Football Schedule.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
MADISON, Wis., April 9.—A spirited bidding contest is on at the University of Wisconsin over the possession of the real live badge exhibited in the menagerie of the recent basketball circus held here by the students. The Greek letter fraternities are eagerly raising the price, hoping to acquire a fraternity pet that will make a hit upon every public occasion where the varsity yell would be in place. This animal for whom the state of Wisconsin has been given a secondary and popular cognomen, is perfectly tame and would be easily cared for at one of the fraternity homes. The circus netted nearly $1,000 which will be used to provide trophies and other-wise stimulate the many class athletic activities to the development of which Athletic Director C. P. Hutchins is devoted.

Both lakes opened here this week, and Capt. E. H. Tonylek is preparing to start work with his crew candidates as soon as the prevailing high winds subside. A terrific blow has been blowing this place for days, doing thousands of dollars' worth of damage to the many beautiful and costly parks that have been made by filling in portions of the lakes. The crew candidates gather daily at the bathhouse, examine the shells and wistfully look out over the rushing water of Lake Mendota, eagerly waiting for the surface to become placid enough to permit real rowing. Work on the machines is continued, but will be abandoned when open water work is possible.

It has been settled that Wisconsin will be represented at the Pennsylvania university eastern relay carnival. The athletic council appropriated $100 and the other $100 required was raised among the students by popular subscription. Money is now being collected to raise enough to pay the expenses of taking Oscar Osthoff, Wisconsin's star heavier of weights, to compete in the weight events of the big eastern meet.

The adverse action of the faculty in killing the proposition for seven instead of five football games has caused the usual amount of student storming at the "dry-house" of the faculty, who seem to be jealous lest "king football" regain his power of a decade ago. Dr. Hutchins is keenly disappointed over the veto of the faculty, for he proposed to devote the additional two games, if such had been allowed, to taking on the colleges of Illinois and Detroit, and to use these two games in future years to bring into closer relationship and more friendly spirit the university and the several small Wisconsin colleges.

Track training is going on merrily, with the next big event the eastern meet, and the athletes just getting out for some invigorating work in the open air after less valuable practice in the confines of the gymnasium.

Conec Tom Barry has taken his baseball players out of their indoor work, instead of limiting the work to batting, pitchers, practicing hitting and stopping grounders, real baseball is possible now. The first game will be between Wisconsin and Northwestern on April 17, but the badger nine is nowhere near in shape to show anything like normal form.

Enthusiasm over this season's baseball team is not high among the students, where the impression seems lodged that the material has not panned out well and noble from Duk Knight, a star pitcher, and one or two other good players. Conec Barry is hard up against it to build a team that can be expected to do credit to the university, even in comparison with the indifferent baseball nines that have gone out from Madison for several seasons past. Knight is showing fine ability and is being bid for by the Madison team of the Wisconsin league, but will probably enter the professional class in some western club. Bud Culver, the star football halfback, is developing ability as an infielder and will probably be played there instead of his preferable place in the far pasture.

ANOTHER FUR ROBBERY IS PULLED OFF IN MILWAUKEE

Thieves Work Quickly in Plain Sight of Many Persons on the Street.

MEMPHIS TO HAVE A NEW UNION STATION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—Within the next day or two actual work will begin on the construction of the Memphis Union Passenger Station, which is designed to be one of the finest rail-road stations in the country. The cost of the new station and terminals at Memphis is $2,500,000. All of the railroads entering Memphis, with the exception of the Southern Railway, will use the station and pay their pro rata of the expense of building it.

POLITICIANS AT WASHINGTON BUSY

GOSSIP THAT CANNON WILL BECOME A UNITED STATES SENATOR.

WHO WOULD BE SPEAKER

Tawney Appears to Be the Real Floor Leader of the Republicans, Having Taken the Place of Payne.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, April 9.—Speaker Cannon should be elected to the senate, and expressed for service in the house, but the situation in Illinois is such that he may be obliged to accept the honor to break the deadlock, and thus round out his long and notable career in the north end of the capitol. There are several things which might induce "Uncle Joe" to look with more favor upon an election to the senate now; than he has heretofore. He has been vigorously attacked throughout the country—whether rightfully or wrongfully it does not matter, and referred to as a czar and obstructor of legislation. Again, it is evident that control of the house is slipping away from him. This was made manifest at the opening of the present session, when a dozen republicans refused to vote for him, and a well organized and fighting band of insurgents stubbornly assailed the house organization of which he is the head.

Concerning the possibility of Cannon's promotion to the senate, the question arises as to his successor. James S. Sherman undoubtedly would have been the man had he chosen to remain in the house, but he preferred the vice presidency rather than to wait for "Uncle Joe" to get out of his way. With Sherman no longer in the house the new Richmond in the field unquestionably is James A. Tawney of Minnesota. Tawney wants the speakership, and night and day, unconsciously, he is working to get it. He would like to see "Uncle Joe" made senator, but in case he is not, Tawney will await another opportunity to take command of the gavel. Just now the tariff fight is affording him an opportunity to display his generalship and to further his plans and to help to attain his ambition he is not hesitating to fight the ways and means committee.

By common consent and custom, the chairman of the ways and means committee is the leader of his party of the floor, but since Mr. Tawney has been chairman of the committee on appropriations, he has been the actual floor leader, and Mr. Payne only the figure-head. He virtually has usurped the leadership from the Auburn statesman, and now he is dictating to Chairman Payne just what sort of a tariff bill he wants passed. Figuratively speaking, he has the committee by the throat and is insisting that what he wants in the bill shall govern the rest. It is a slight move, and one which no man except Tawney would dare attempt to make more prominent than he is, and it may destroy the practice which he has, but the game is his and Tawney is taking the chance.

The house organization, proper, wants a tariff bill passed as speedily as possible, and with few changes from the Payne measure. Tawney tells the committee that barley must be put back to 25 cents a bushel, that hides must be restored to the dutiable list; that wool must be placed on the free list; and that bituminous coal must remain free. Outside aid is coming to Tawney's support. The Chicago Northern railroad is backing all of his propositions. During the past week James J. Hill has been in Washington, and now it is made known that Hill will lend all of his influence, which is conceded to be enormous, to further Tawney's plan. No one would accuse Mr. Tawney of being ill-mannered, but it is no longer his good reason for favoring Tawney's proposal for free lumber and free coal, and to get those he is willing that wool and barley in which he is not interested, should be taxed.

Hill has three lines which tip the great Crow's Nest Pass bituminous coal fields of Canada, the largest on the continent. The beds, lying as they do east of the Rockies, are far more accessible than the coal of the Appalachians, which has to be transported by the Great Northern. Furthermore, the road is a great consumer of lumber. Tawney is backed by the sentiment in his district, and it is this which nerves him in his fight. He is spurred on by an ambition to reach the speaker's throne. There are many of his friends, however, who believe that his ambition may prove his downfall. They say he is handling a two-edged sword. It is arrayed against him many members who heretofore have been his staunch friends. They contend that he is inspired in his plans by selfish motives, and that to reach his ends he is willing to sacrifice interests which vitally concern their constituents. There are the men who want free hides, who want the present duty on lumber retained, and the men who have cold fields in their districts and want a duty upon their product. These men Tawney brushes aside.

NARROW ESCAPE OF OLD CAR REPAIRER

Was Working Under Car That Was Hit by Flying Switch.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Grand Rapids, Wis., April 9.—Mike Sierck, car-repairer for the Chicago and North-Western railway, in this city, while working repairing a freight car in the yards of said company near the coal sheds at 7:30 a. m. today, met with an accident that nearly cost him his life. He and Halsey Lempe were attempting to put on an iron plate upon the bottom of the cross-beam under the car. To do this, Mr. Sierck was lying on his back between the rails while Mr. Lempe was lying on his back under the car on the side rail. While in the act of holding the plate in place, the switching crew threw in several cars, against the one the repairs were being made upon, not knowing these men were under said car. When the cars came together Mr. Lempe got out of danger but Mr. Sierck, being under the car and between the rails, had presence of mind to grab the brake beam with his right arm and pushed himself along underneath the car a distance of eight feet with his left arm. In doing even this the right side of his face was bruised, his right arm and hand cut and bruised, and his right leg and knee were bruised. When the car was stopped he was taken home and received the attention and care of the company's physician. If he received no internal injuries he will soon be able to be out again.

J. COLLINSWORTH TO GO TO WASHINGTON TO MAKE HOME

Saturday evening J. Collinsworth of 127 Chatham street leaves for Illinois, Washington, to take up a position in which he will have charge of the pumping station of an irrigation works and make his future home there. The city to which he goes is an enterprising and growing town just six miles from Spokane and the prospects for Mr. Collinsworth's success in this new home are very bright. His wife and daughter will remain here for a time, but will join him later. Mrs.

Chicago and North-Western Engineer H. O. Dudley is laying off sick.

R. H. Lee is in Chicago today on business.

Engineer Starritt dispatched in place of Charles Yates last night.

Engineer Schoenberg and Fireman Hackshaw double-headed 538 from Chicago this morning with 177 and are on the extra board.

Engineers McHugh and Mann double-headed 578 down last night with engines 1133 and 1415. Engine 1133 will be used on the Wisconsin division.

A string of twenty steel iron ore cars went through yesterday for service on the Duluth and Iron Range.

The "A Knight for a Day" theatrical company went south on 300 this morning with a special coach and baggage car.

Engineer McHugh was on the Beloit accommodation run, number 92, this morning.

It is probable that the motor car which has been sent to Chicago for repairs will not be used again on the Beloit run, but will be sent to work between Omaha and Missouri Valley Junction, a run of about six miles. If this proves to be true, Engineer Rahoy will undoubtedly be pleased, as his home is at Omaha.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul A position as fireman is posted as being vacant on the east-end way-freight on the Prairie du Chien Division with lay-over at Milwaukee. The oldest man applying for the position will be assigned. It expires April 14.

Engineers Faltor and Smith double-headed 61 in last night from Mineral Point with engines 1236 and 857.

Fireman McAnullo has gone home on a vacation.

Engineer Fox and Fireman Rooney had 105 and 106 yesterday and double-headed out again with Engineer Smith on 77 with engines.

Pleased Philatelists.

The postal authorities of England paid a high compliment to the stamp collectors of the world when they provided a special cancelling stamp for use in Manchester on the three days of the stamp exposition in that city recently. The cancelling mark was circular in design and about an inch in diameter, and around its borders were the words "International Stamp Exposition, Manchester, 1909." Thus, for once, were the philatelists officially recognized.

HIGHER PRICES TO BE EXPECTED SOON

Retail Ice in Many Cities is Advanced Heavily—Slight Change Here.

Reports from various Wisconsin and northern Illinois cities show that during the coming summer ice is to be considerably advanced in prices over previous years. The reason given by men who explain these matters is that the harvesting season was so short this past winter that not enough ice was secured by the big Chicago companies which supply the southern trade that they are goldpiling up all the small houses throughout the country. In Beloit an offer was made to the owner of the local ice company for his entire business and supply of ice that was far above what he could get for it by selling it during the summer. In Madison, with its lakes and many ice houses, the price is to be up and the same is true of Milwaukee. The city ice company will make but a slight advance which is not really an advance, taking the season as a whole, over their price of last year. They have enough ice for the use in the city but have received several offers for large supplies which they refuse to fill as it might leave them short here. Janesville is really more fortunate in this respect than some of the neighboring cities where the prices will almost double.

GOTHAM IS GARDEN OF EASTER LILIES

Countless Thousands of Flowers Which Typify The Season Are to Be Seen At Every Turn.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, April 9.—New York, as is customary at the pre-Easter season, has blossomed out into a veritable floral garden. Easter lilies and other spring flowers are to be seen at every turn. "Probably in no other city of the country is the custom of floral decoration at Easter so prevalent as it is in the metropolis. The shops of the florists display countless thousands of the typical Easter flower, but the display does not end there. At almost every prominent corner in the downtown section, but more particularly in Twenty-third street, Fifth and Sixth avenues and in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street in Harlem, hundreds of carloaders vendors convert the outer edge of the sidewalks into veritable flower gardens. And the gorgeous and varicolored display thus temptingly spread out seldom fails to coax the dimes and quarters from the passers-by.

To supply the New York market at this time of year the number of Easter lilies required is far greater than in any other part of the country. The dealers look to Germany to supply the deficiency. During the past few days all of the ships arriving from the islands have been laden to their fullest capacity with Easter lilies. The cargo of one single steamer contained upwards of 10,000 boxes of the fragrant buds. But the supply, enormous as it is, seems never in excess of the demand and the price at which the flowers are now retelling in New York is about the same as in former years.

NEW QUESTION IS RAISED IN COURTS

Whether Man Must List His Insurance Policy As An Asset.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Manitowoc, April 9.—Whether a bankrupt is forced to give up his life insurance policies and list them as assets for the benefit of creditors, is a question raised in the Terens bankruptcy which is now in the United States courts. Terens holds $1800 in insurance and some of the creditors have asked the court to compel him to place the policies with his assets and a contest may be made on the question. No decision has yet been given as to the right of certain creditors who held claims against a partnership in which Terens was interested, to share both in the partnership assets and those of Terens as an individual.

Seriously Burned.
John Neumann, a gas fitter employed by the Manitowoc Gas company, was burned about the head seriously yesterday while attempting to repair a break in the pipes of the system.

ON EASTER MORNING

You will be happy if you have taken home or sent to somebody a few flowers, a plant in bloom or a nice Easter basket.

The perfume carried into the home on the delicate petals of our hot house flowers will be a beautiful reminder of the Easter sentiment.

The Flower Shop presents an exquisite array of every cut flower in season—magnificent Easter Lilies; Roses, the queen of flowers; Sweet English Violets; Carnations, long stemmed and graceful; a large variety of potted plants in bloom, grown especially for Easter, that will please careful buyers. We will arrange these in fancy baskets or daintily covered pots.

Order early Saturday morning to insure the accurate deliveries.

The price need not keep you from coming as we can furnish beautiful gifts from 25c up.

KNIFE IS POPULAR WEAPON AT MONROE

Richard Maurer and George Michaels Use Knives as Weapons of Offense.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., April 9.—George Michaels, Jr., of Brownstown was brought here yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging assault with intent to do great bodily harm on complaint of his cousin, Willie Michaels, who claims that he was cut in the right arm with a knife in the fight with Michaels in leaving the Scott Aemstutz saloon Wednesday night.

Richard Maurer, who is charged with clubbing Emil Eschbold in a street fight, waived examination when his case came up for hearing before Police Justice Baltzer yesterday afternoon and he was bound over to the circuit court. Bail was reduced from $500 to $250, which he furnished.

At the home of John Weirich, 823 Clinton street, burned a hole in the kitchen roof yesterday noon. The fire department was called and quickly put an end to the fire. A damage of $150 is covered by insurance.

The Monroe fire department at the annual business meeting elected officers as follows: Chief, Josh Stroff; 1st assistant, J. C. Blumner; 2d assistant, G. F. Blockinger; secretary, F. A. Shiner; treasurer, C. T. Meythaler; trustees, Christ-Roth; treasurer, amusement fund, J. C. Blumner. Thirty-five members attended a banquet at Turner hall following the election.

Miss Amelia Zentner of this city and Ben Elmer of Mt. Pleasant were married here yesterday and left for Milwaukee on a wedding trip. They will reside on a farm in Mt. Pleasant.

The Monroe High School Athletic association will produce a play entitled "The Touchstone" at Turner open-house Friday evening, April 16. Local players will make up the cast.

A little son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Baucerman of Vesta, Minn., were in the city yesterday.

Mr. Sprague and G. W. Hunt were in the city from Brookfield yesterday.

Miss Kathryn Bloz has returned from a visit to her sister at Kenmare, S. D.

Attorney E. D. McGowan of Janesville was in the city yesterday.

NEW GLARUS MAN IS SUDDENLY SUMMONED

John Hoesly Passed Away Very Unexpectedly at His Home Last Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Now Glarus, Wis., April 9.—John Hoesly, aged fifty-two years, died suddenly at his home last night at about six o'clock. He attended to his work as usual all day and passed away shortly after the supper hour. He is survived by his wife and three sisters: Mrs. Rosa Kundert, of Now Glarus; Mrs. John Freitag, of Monticello; and Mrs. John Weiss of Arzyle, besides a host of friends and relatives.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY. North Spring Valley, April 8.—Mrs. John Boyd of Harmony visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Harpor, the past week.

Ole Granggaard's team ran away Wednesday morning but were stopped before doing much damage.

George Inhr sawed wood for Warren Howles last week.

George Gibson is working for Mrs. Mann.

Quite a thunder storm raged here Monday night. Tuesday night a forceful gale of wind prevailed and some fences were blown down.

Herman Mann is improving from his recent fall.

John Witte, who has been confined to the house with the grippe, is better.

Election day was stormy and many did not go to the polls.

A new mail route from Hanover touches the northern part of town, connecting with the Brookfield route.

Frank Schumacher has been hauling heavy timbers for a barn.

John Lundgren of Footville will erect Robert Willing's large barn.

EDGERTON. Edgerton, April 9.—Miss Sarah Droughting of Stoughton was a guest at the E. C. Tallard home Wednesday night and Thursday went to Brookfield to spend the rest of the week with Miss Josephine Tallard, who is teaching school there.

Mrs. Laura Holton and mother, Mrs. Tall, and Miss Ida Doty, spent Thursday in Janesville.

The many friends of C. O. Sherman will be pleased to learn that he is slowly improving. If no complication set in his physician is hopeful of recovery. As he is not entirely out of danger, his son, Charles, of Sparta is in constant attendance at his bedside.

Mrs. Hubert Gove of Duluth is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Hutson, for the remainder of the week.

Rev. Symons of Stoughton was a caller on Edgerton friends Wednesday.

While assisting in the work of pressing hay at the farm of John Maltress, Thursday, Ollan Hall, Jr., was struck in the forehead by the sweep and received an ugly gash which necessitated several stitches. While the wound is rather painful, it is not considered serious.

ALYE AND PENNSY READY FOR RACE

Crews Taking Practice Spins on the Schuykill Today in Preparation For Tomorrow's Contest. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Philadelphia, Pa., April 9.—The Yale and University crews were on the Schuykill today for their final practice spins before the big race in which they are to engage tomorrow. Both crews appear to be in excellent form. The Ell crew, though created from green material, is said to be up to Yale's best standard, and while it is known that the Quakers have one of their fastest eights in recent years Yale is expected to prove a tough proposition for Pennsylvania to reach.

Advice Worth Heeding. Do not wait, but begin to-morrow morning to be reliable and keep at it until reliability becomes a part of you.—Booker T. Washington.

OBITUARY.

Robert Bell. Robert Bell, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell of Johnstown Center died last night at the home of his parents. Heart trouble was the cause of his demise. He leaves a father and mother, he leaves a brother, David, and a sister, Margaret. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. Daland of Milton officiating, and the interment will be in the cemetery at Johnstown Center.

Mrs. Austin Judge. The services for the late Mrs. Austin Judge were held this morning at half-past nine from the house and at ten from St. Patrick's church, Rev. James McGinnity officiating. Many of the friends of the deceased from Footville were present and the floral offerings were beautiful and many. George Devins, John Devins, Sr., Charles Devins, William Kennedy, Frank Klemm, and John Devins, Jr., acted as pallbearers. The remains were interred in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

DEEPENING THE RIVER

In discussing the question of the proposed survey by the government of the Rock river from Sterling, Illinois, as far as Janesville and from Janesville to Madison by way of the Yahara, it brings out some interesting facts that are of interest to all who see a great future for Janesville when the river is made navigable. The Journal says:

"Captious critics would see holes in the project at present under discussion to secure the deepening of the Yahara and Rock rivers, making them navigable for pleasure craft and even for light freight boats. Certainly no proposition of this kind should suffer from cold water thrown without regard to the facts or the manifest need for such improvement.

"First and foremost, the fact should be recognized that the government wishes not only to cater to the wants of the people with regard to the improvement of freight navigation, but also to their pleasure, apparently holding the matter to be as important as the former consideration. It should not take a detailed explanation or a set of stereotyped views to impress upon the people of Madison and vicinity the importance of maintaining its lakes and streams in the highest possible state of repair, making them safe for boats of every description. This chain of lakes will be the center of the population of south-central Wisconsin in time and the progressive citizen should look into the future.

"It cannot be said that the people of this district are apathetic about the proposed improvement—in fact there is every reason to believe they are in favor of it. At least there is no valid excuse for argument against it.

"The suggestion that our present congressman and the senior senator from Wisconsin are interested in the project as a 'vote-getter' is an unworthy one. Sifted down to its value as affecting the political fortunes of either a senator or a congressman it is nothing less than ridiculous. Congressman Nelson is known to have said he had nothing whatever to do with it, and Senator La Follette is kept pretty busy with bigger things.

"Citizens interested in this improvement can do nothing better than to set down their arguments in its favor on paper and addressing them to John M. Olin, president of the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association. Mr. Olin will represent this vicinity interested in having the drive association and all others in Yahara deepened, and will present the arguments to the representative of the war department—office of the chief engineers for rivers and harbors—who in turn will report on the desirability of a survey of the waterway. Upon the report of Major Riche of Rock Island will depend whether the survey shall be made.

TARIFF REVISION, FOR WHOM?

Reports from the Philippines, from Porto Rico and Cuba show that the inhabitants of those islands are badly mistaken as to the real purpose of the tariff revisionists now at work in congress. At the outset they, in common with innocent-minded observers at home, expected a genuine readjustment of schedules such as would prove helpful to American interests in general. The Philippines in particular rejoiced, for with the free admission of their sugar and tobacco into the United States, of which they felt asured, they saw before them a prospect of unalloyed prosperity. Cuba, also, though a foreign country, expected similar concessions if only an evidence of good will on the part of her rich and powerful godparent. It seems hard that these rosy expectations are to be rudely disappointed, but evidently that is what is going to happen. The Philippines and the Cubans, like so many conflicting residents of these United States, have misunderstood the program. There is to be a revision of the tariff, of course, but probably to the benefit of special interests here at home rather than for the welfare of American interests in general.

Plainly speaking, the indications now are that the country will presently receive from congress a tariff measure which amounts to a compromise, not only of schedules, but of conscience on the part of the party in power. Popular confidence in the intention of that party to fulfill its auto-election pledges has hardly been stimulated. All that the country asks now is that the tariff dicker, good, bad or indifferent, be carried through as speedily as possible in order that business may adjust itself to new conditions without suffering further hardship or confusion.

Now is the time for Janesville to begin booming its virtues by a good systematic effort to advertise the city throughout the country. One way to do this would be to have a Home-Coming and Fourth of July celebration.

Up at Madison the Senatorial investigation committee is still busy grinding out evidence that will fill volumes when completed and still will be nothing more than campaign literature.

It appears now that Mr. Cary has been re-elected state superintendent again without very much opposition, when it is all taken into consideration.

The new state capital promises to be a thing of beauty when completed and the state will have reason to be especially proud of it before long.

Bolet went west, but the drys say that the vote was less than in previous attempts to make it a dry town and this has encouraged them.

Some one suggests that the great western continent beyond the Rockies will some day be the garden land of the world.

Roosevelt will have a chance to fight the black men, perhaps, before he leaves Africa.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

What is so fine as to be able to bring a happy smile into the face and eyes of the aged poor?

Like a rare burst of sunshine on a dreary day are the illumined faces of half a million aged and indigent government pensioners of England on their weekly pay day.

The first payment of old age pensions began in that country in January. The applicant for an old age pension in England must be seventy years of age and have a yearly income of less than $175. No one who has received poor law relief or who has been convicted of a crime can be a pensioner.

The total amount to be paid this year by the government is $73,000,000—tremendous reminder of Britain's very poor.

Payments are made at the postoffice, where lines of bent, feeble figures gather to receive their weekly dole.

A correspondent gives some of these incidents: A feeble old man and wife were given 3s. 6d. apiece. "Here, lass," said the old husband, "you be the keeper of it all. Let your purse be fat for once."

A fat purse with less than $2! A tottering dame whose certificate showed she was eighty-five said she also took her stipend: "Thank goodness! Now I can have some plum pudding."

One frail, gentle old soul was so impressed by her riches that she gave a beggar threepence.

A blind old lady said in a quivering voice when she was led in, "I couldn't trust anybody to collect so much money."

Surely, you say, $1.25 per week—$2.50 for married people—is little to rejoice over. But—

It means a bit of ground to grow vegetables at 1 shilling per week, 3 shillings for food, 3s. 6d. for clothing, leaving a few pennies for the old man's tobacco and maybe snuff for the old wife.

And it means self respect!

Well, if you pension your soldier, who destroys, why not pension your industrial soldier, who builds up? Is he who, living a sober, industrious life, building houses and roads and digging ditches, less worthy of remembrance and care when he is old and broken than the soldier, who wounds and wastes, kills and destroys?

England is far in advance of us in this particular.

BUSINESS MEN TAKE A LIVELY INTEREST IN GAME

Handball a Popular Pastime During Noon Hour for Business Men Who Enjoy Athletics.

For a number of the business men, members of the Y. M. C. A., handball is becoming quite a popular sport, as one that gives them good exercise and requires sufficient skill and practice to make it interesting. Every day during the noon hour there congregate at the upstairs gymnasium a co-terlo of men, who are there for the purpose of enjoying this healthful pastime. Among the following six there have been considerable rivalry and many games played to discover the best two players: O. E. Gestreich, Roy J. C. Hazen, J. C. Kilham, A. B. Matheson, A. M. Fisher, F. E. Hren, E. V. Whitton and G. K. Tallman.

Sweet Sugar Cured Hams and Bacon For Easter

What is more appetizing and nourishing than a breakfast of ham and eggs or bacon and eggs?

It has become a custom to serve ham and eggs for breakfast on Easter Sunday morning and you will undoubtedly follow that custom this year.

Our hams and bacon we fully guarantee, each and every one. We cure and smoke them ourselves, therefore know what they are.

They have a sweetness and flavor that is not to be found in other grades. The sweetness is imparted to them by our special process of curing which leaves each one a delicious morsel. They are all smoked by the old fashioned process, with genuine hickory wood smoke and are incomparable in flavor.

We have a plentiful supply on hand and will make deliveries up until Saturday evening. However, it would be well to get your order in early so as to be certain of getting that ham for Easter. Phone in your orders. We make prompt and accurate deliveries to any part of the city.

Sales of Beef.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Beloit, Wis., April 9.—Two men giv-and James Sullivan were caught peddling fresh beef from house to house yesterday afternoon. This morning in court one pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was fined three dollars and costs. The other was charged with selling meat illegally and paid a fine of ten dollars and costs. There were three in the party but the third made his escape on an interurban car going to Janesville.

LOCK-UP HARBORED FIFTY-ONE LODGERS

Horde of Unfortunates Slept on Floor
And on Top of the Cage Last Evening.

Thirty loaves of bread and five gallons of coffee were required for breakfast rations at the city hall lock-up this morning. Fifty-one lodgers, consisting of men and women, crowded into the lock-up from midnight until midnight, slept on the floor and on the top of the cage. Chief Applesby is much puzzled. If the same abnormal migration of men without work is ob-servable elsewhere, all is well and good.
But if Janesville has been marked as a sort of "Vandenberg Haven," where sumptuous lodging and breakfasts may be had for the asking, he wants to know it.

three o'clock and although the Janes-

ginning of the contest but their stub-

Janesville players made a poor start in the first inning but picked up in the second inning and began to score
until the end of the game. Nelson field work from the other seven players, allowed the Shophire bats but a few hits. The line-up of the Janes-

Nelson Ally, pitcher; Frank Spohn, first base; William Sullivan, second base and short stop; Valentine Mott, third base; Lloyd Curtis, left field; William
Ervyn, center field; Otto Peterson, right field.

Yesterday a baseball team of eight a nine from a Shophire school in a game played in Shophire yesterday af-

three o'clock and although the Janesville youths had but eight men they made a very good showing, trimming their opponents, 17 to 6. The Shophire team seemed to play hard at the beginning of the contest but their stub-

Janesville players made a poor start in the first inning but picked up in the second inning and began to score
until the end of the game. Nelson

field work from the other seven players, allowed the Shophire bats but a few hits. The line-up of the Janes-

base; Lloyd Curtis, left field; William
Ervyn, center field; Otto Peterson,

THREE-CENT FARE IN THE SHOW-ME STATE

Missouri People Will Not Be Able To Ride For Two Cents After Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., April 9.—The three-cent rate will be restored tomorrow on all of the eighteen railroads doing business in Missouri. The change follows the recent decision of Judge McPherson holding the two-cent rate law to be unconstitutional.

The new rates agreed upon are as follows:
Two-thousand-mile interchangeable book on certificate plan at 2 cents a mile; 500-mile book, good for bearer on all lines in Missouri, at 2 1/2 cents a mile; 500-mile book, good for the individual only on the line of the railroad issuing it, at 2 1/2 cents a mile, and the 3-cent single trip ticket, with a 10 cent reduction on round trip tickets. The mileage books will be limited to one year from date of sale.

It is proposed to put into effect the changes in the interstate rates as soon as they can be notified with the Interstate Commerce Commission under the required thirty days' notice. It is the opinion of the railroad officials that the Missouri decision undoubtedly will be taken into consideration in other states where the low fare laws are in litigation, and therefore it has been decided to make no move in states where the laws have not been questioned until the courts have acted. The rate contents now on in Arkansas, Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska.

SCHOOL MEN MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

Department of Superintendents of Minnesota Educational Association Is in Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Minneapolis, Minn., April 9.—The sixth annual meeting of the department of superintendents of the Minnesota Educational Association began today at the university of Minnesota, and will continue over tomorrow. The initial session, which was well attended by leading educators from all parts of the state, was devoted to the discussion of topics of general interest. Industrial training in the smaller high schools and in agriculture in the public schools, and the practice and teaching of hygiene in the schools were among the subjects that received attention. The work of the juvenile court has been selected as the leading subject for discussion at the concluding session tomorrow.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO HELP.

Illinois and Wisconsin Will Prevent Damming of Desplaine River.

Washington, Apr. 9.—The federal government, through Attorney General Wickham, has been asked to become a party, with the states of Illinois and Wisconsin, in the efforts being made to prevent the Economy Light & Power Company from building a dam in the Desplaine river in Grundy county, Illinois. The matter is to be heard before the supreme court of Illinois on April 16.

Edward T. Cahill, a Chicago attorney, who served notice on the attorney general of his intention to present to the Illinois supreme court a bill of intervention to prevent the damming of the Desplaine river, stated that in case the department of justice fails to file a petition in the case, "to protect the interests of the federal government," he will move the court for a rule to show cause why some one shall not be appointed to act in the name of the government in the matter.

THEY'RE ON THEIR HONEYMOON.

Fairbanks and Wife Start World Trip Long Planned.

San Francisco, Apr. 9.—When former Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana and Mrs. Fairbanks sail from this port today for a trip around the world the sightseeing of both since their marriage will have begun and they will be off on their second honeymoon.

Fifteen years ago Mrs. Fairbanks was promised a trip around the world by her husband, but until the latter stepped out of the vice-president's chair on March 4 it was no more than a promise, and the then rising young lawyer was just entering politics. Word has been received here that a big celebration is being planned for the couple in Hawaii.

Bryan Awards Prize Mule.

Lincoln, Neb., Apr. 9.—Announcement was made today at the office of W. J. Bryan that Esmeralda county, Nevada, having made the greatest Democratic gain in the election last November, has been awarded the prize mule. The mule, Major Minniscott, was presented to Mr. Bryan during the campaign by Minniscott admirers.

Shoots Girl; Commits Suicide.
St. Paul, Minn., Apr. 9.—Following a lovers' quarrel, Henry Knipe, a grocery clerk, 24 years of age, mortally shot Miss Alice Thompson, 22 years of age, and then turned the weapon upon himself, inflicting two wounds that caused almost instant death.

Their Condition Unchanged.
Washington, Apr. 9.—The condition of former Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock and former Representative Joseph W. Babcock of Wisconsin, who have been seriously ill for several days in this city, is reported to be unchanged.

MAN WALKED INTO A TRAP SET FOR DEER

Two Men Who Fixed Scheme for Killing Animals Which Slew Man Are to Be Tried.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Merrill, Wis., April 9.—The April term of the Merrill circuit court will be opened Monday and Judge A. H. Reid of this city will preside. The criminal calendar is an exceptionally large one, containing thirty cases. What probably is the most important criminal case is that against Robert Zimmermann and Fred Arndt of the town of Scott, Lincoln county, charged with manslaughter. They are accused of having set a gun to kill deer. Instead it is alleged it killed a man who unsuspectingly walked into the trap.

An interesting case in the civil section of the calendar is that of John Nelson against the Stange Lumber company, a suit for damages for the loss of an eye while working in the company's factory. A splinter flew into his eye and pierced the optic, destroying the sight.

The interesting phase of the case is its legal record, it having been tried twice and declared a mistrial, taken to the supreme court and now will be tried for the third time. The action was started in the superior court in Merrill. In the first trial the judge ordered a retrial on an error in his charge to the jury. In the second trial, after directing a verdict for the defendant, the judge concluded he was in error on some points and ordered another trial. The defendant appealed from his order for a retrial and lost out, the supreme court affirming the order of the lower court. The case was then taken to the circuit court on a change of venue.

Another personal injury case is entitled Robert Schmitt against the Wright Lumber company. The plaintiff sues for damages for injuries received while loading logs for the company.

Joseph Gilbert, District Attorney in the Case Against Mrs. Georgia Sampson, Charged With the Murder of Her Husband, Harry Sampson, Neighbor of The Late Adolphus Sampson.

While District Attorney Gilbert has summoned about 15 witnesses he expects to prove his case against the young woman through the testimony of her family. Her father and mother will be called to testify concerning the quarrels between the husband and wife, and the various incidents on the morning of the tragedy.

The district attorney will inform the jury that all the persons who were at the shooting can be accounted for at the moment the shot was fired except Harry Sampson and his wife, and that by this process of elimination and the testimony of a gun expert that the rifle must have been fired at some distance from Sampson's body he expects to establish the guilt of the wife.

While counsel for Mrs. Sampson have made no statements, it has been clearly indicated that they will endeavor to show Mrs. Sampson was upstairs at the time of the shooting and that it was fired by the jury that Sampson killed himself or was killed by some one now unknown.

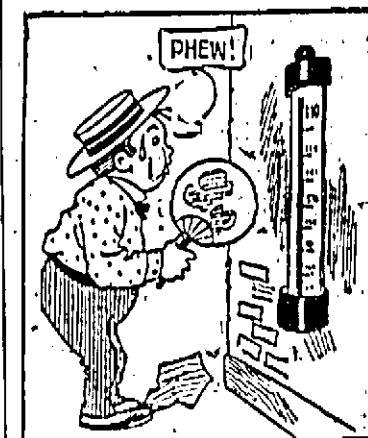

Counsel for the witness stand unless the present plans for the defense are changed, she has resolutely maintained her innocence.

Coming Down Easy.
Inquiries after the way of Patrick Conroy were answered by his devoted friend, Terence Dolan, who was at the Conroy's in the double capacity of nurse and cook. "No, he's not dangerously hurt at all," was Mr. Dolan's reply to a solemnly whispered question at the door.

"We heard he had a bad fall and was all broke to pieces," whispered the neighbor.

"It's a big story you've heard," said Mr. Dolan, in his cheerful tone. "Thru, he fell off'n the roof of the Brady mansion, where he was shingling and he broke his left leg, knocked out a couple of teeth and broke his collarbone."

"Mind ye, he'd have fell clear to the ground if it might have hurt him bad, but he was a big pile of shoten and old lumber that broke his fall."—Youth's Companion.

Household Diplomacy

The young married woman gave her elaborately done-up hair an extra pat as she paused before the mantel. Then she glanced at her husband, who was reading his paper in the placid comfort of a man who has dined well and thankfully realizes that he is not going to be dragged out to a party that night.

"I think Mary is improving on her dessert, don't you?" asked the young married woman, pausing beside him.

"That pudding was fine," said her husband. "Nothing like a home dinner that is well cooked. I'm sorry for the fellows still living at the club."

"Are you, really, Jack?" said the young married woman, seating herself on his chair. "It's an idea of you to appreciate the fact that I take an interest in my home. I want to be just as you want it—a place where you take some comfort. I can't understand some women at all. Gertrude Reamy, for instance. Why, all she thinks of is going somewhere and having a good time! She's never home. Perhaps, though, Dick Reamy is so proud of her being popular that he doesn't care if his home is always topsy-turvy."

"You're just about as popular as Gertrude Reamy!" declared the young married woman's husband. "And you manage to keep house, too!"

"Oh, my, no, Jack!" said the young married woman, shaking her head. "She goes out lots more than I do! And clothes! Well, all I have to say is I don't see how Dick stands it! I should think she would bankrupt him! And he doesn't seem to care how worried he is. I hope I think more of my husband than that!"

"You've a very different disposition," said her husband. "It's funny the kind of girls some men pick out to marry! Gertrude may be pretty, but—well, between you and me, Dick throw himself away!"

"My!" shivered the young married woman. "I hope nobody says that about you! It would make me feel perfectly dreadful! I was over at Gertrude's today. All she thinks about is clothes. She had them all out showing me. I said: 'Low on earth do you ever wear them out?' She just laughed and said she didn't; that when she was tired of a dress she gave it away. You hardly ever see her in the same dress more than five or six times. She has simply heaps of tailor suits in a year. Goodness—when I get a tailor suit I make it do two seasons!"

"And look exactly as well as Gertrude!" said her husband.

"Oh, I don't know," said the young married woman. "Of course, one can't look always well groomed when one wears a suit to death. But I'm just as happy. I wish you could see the array of evening dresses that girl showed me. It looked like dozens. And such expensive ones! Why, I thought I was doing well to have two this winter."

"I like the pink one on you," said her husband.

"Do you, dear?" asked the young married woman. "It's getting pretty shabby to wear anywhere that counts. I have to mend it whenever I take it out. But nobody would notice. And the green chiffon certainly does look dangled. The Reamys are going to Fredericks' ball, too. Next week, you know. You must have your dress suit pressed—don't forget it. I wish my husband to look as handsome as any one there. You, you are, too—you know it!"

"With all the evening gowns she is already has Gertrude told me she is having a new one made for this dance! Think of it! Such extravagance makes me shiver! It's to be the most gorgeous thing of satin and gold lace and she has a wreath of gold roses for her hair. And gold slippers. Nobody else will be seen at that dance but Gertrude when she gets on that array. Well, it doesn't matter to me if I'm not a belle—I'm just as happy so long as you think I'm all right!"

"Gertrude Reamy isn't in it a minute with you!" declared the young married woman's husband. "There'll be no outshining you! Say, why don't you get a new gown for the Fredericks' dance yourself?"

"Why, Jack!" cried the young married woman. "I don't need it! Really! Nobody'll know my pink one is mended! I couldn't think of spending the money when you are so cramped."

"Nonsense!" insisted the young man firmly. "I'm not quite broke yet! You go down to-morrow and buy you a dress that'll knock the spots off Gertrude's! I mean it!"

"Why, Jack!" cried the young married woman. "How perfectly lovely! I never dreamed of such a thing!"—Chicago Daily News.

The Freedom of the Mind.
It is of consequence that the notion of freedom be within us. It does make a difference. How many pass through life oppressed by the idea that we are slaves, dominated by environment and influences that are fixed, and are no different from the inanimate things about us. It makes a difference, if we believe ourselves not slaves to circumstances, not with characters inevitably fixed, and can look into the possibilities of the future and draw strength from them. We may then be masters of life's field.—Prof. George H. Palmer.

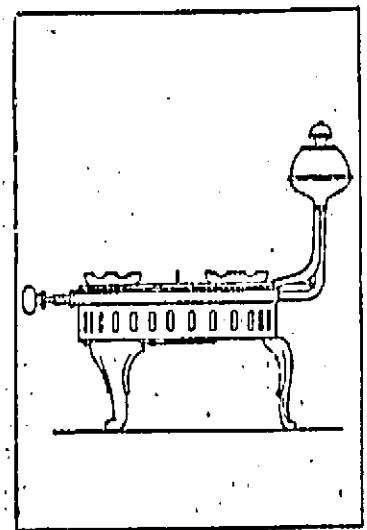

To Kill Worry.
The only way to keep envy, discontent and worry thoughts out of the mind is to replace them with thoughts of peace, faith and good will.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

FOR EASY COOKING

Vapor Stove Handy for Use in Apartments or Sick Rooms.

Many are the uses to which the vapor stove designed by two Connecticut men can be put. In apartments or sick rooms it is particularly convenient, but there are a hundred and one other ways in which it can be utilized. This stove consists of a stand with a hollow space for holding the alcohol which supplies the heating power. A globular receptacle connected with the stand by a curved pipe and rising above it, supplies the fluid as it is needed. A key at one side of the stand controls the flow of alcohol and another regulates the flame, which can be either low or strong.

STRONG AND LASTING FLAME.

either low or strong. This stove can be used for hours at one filling and is both handy and cheap. There is no need to trim and no wasted fuel. When not in use the flame is shut off and the supply of alcohol remains for another lighting. On top of the stand are little supports to hold the cooking dish, soupcon or whatever receptacle is used to cook with.

FOR MILADY'S HAT

Waterproof Cover Will Protect Feathers From Rain.

Fabulous sums have been saved the husbands of this country by the genius of a Pennsylvania. This man has devised a waterproof hat for ladies that will protect the costly plumes and rare birds from rain and save them from destruction. The cover is as simple as it is well made. It is nothing more than a circular piece of waterproof material.

FOLD UP AND EASY TO CARRY.

not plastic. The margin of the cover is hemmed to form a pocket for the string and along this margin are eyelets, also for the string to pass in and out. The whole affair is very light and can be folded up into a small compass and carried in a pocket or bag without being noticed. If a sudden storm springs up the protector can be spread over the top of the hat and drawn together underneath the brim with the drawing string, thus enclosing the hat in a manner that protects it completely. Women need no longer fear to wear their glibest millinery because there is a cloud in the sky.

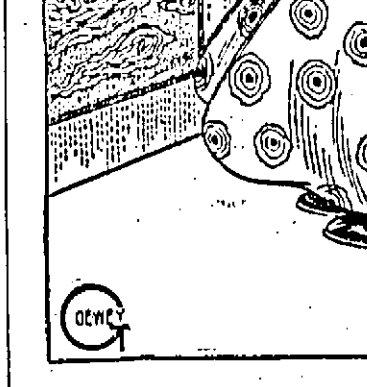

THE LAMP OPEN.

lamp from one end and reaching the wire. At the lower end of this tube are little prongs which engage the head of the match as it is pushed through them and set it alight. The match is placed in a smaller cylinder which fits into the tube. Automobiles, bicyclists and all persons who have had their lamps ruined by trying to light a lamp in a gale will find this little invention with joy. Though it has been designed in connection with a certain style lamp, it will probably be adapted for use in other types.

Persons who have used up a score of matches trying to light a lamp out doors on a windy day will appreciate the value of the invention of a resident of the Windy City. This is a lamp with a lighter attachment which ignites a friction match after it is inside the lamp, thus preventing the danger of having the match blown out. The lighter attachment consists of a tube entering the

DO YOUR OWN HORSE CLIPPING AND SAVE $1.00 TO $2.00 ON EVERY HORSE YOU CLIP.

It can be easily done with a Stewart No. 1 Ball-bearing Clipping Machine. Every stable should have one.

CLIPPING HORSE

Just as you throw aside your heavy overcoat and warm winter clothing in the early spring in order that you can work better, your horse should have his long coat of horse winter hair taken off. Horsemen tell us that if left on, it holds the dirt and sweat and thus clogs the pores of the skin and no horse in that condition can be at his best. Clipping is much more rapid and effective than currying. The clipped horse dries out quickly, gets better rest and more good from his food. He comes out refreshed in the morning and better fit for a day's work.

The Stewart Ball Bearing No. 1 Clipping Machine is the ideal machine for the average stable. It is operated by hand and is so simple that a child can run it. The price is $7.50 complete. One will last a lifetime—is dirt and dust proof and fully guaranteed for five years.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Any-thing Unless It Cures.

If you suffer from constipation in any form whatever, acute or chronic, we will guarantee to supply you with a medicine that will surely effect a cure. It is taken with regularity and according to the directions, and today, length of time, should the medicine fail to benefit you to your entire satisfaction, we promise that it shall cost you nothing.

No other remedy can be compared with Rexall Orderlies for the easy, pleasant and successful treatment of constipation. The active medicinal ingredient of this remedy is orolox, which is odorless, tasteless, and colorless, and is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a preparation which is incomparable as a perfect bowel regulator, invigorator, and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are suitable for all ages, and are not only pleasant to the palate and gentle on the bowels, but they do not cause griping or any disagreeable effects or inconvenience, and may be taken at any time, day or night.

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, delicate or aged persons because they do not contain anything that could possibly injure the most delicate organism. They are just as easy to take as candy, and unlike other preparations for a like purpose they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habits acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. We know that there is nothing that will do you so much good, and we will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. They are prepared in tablet form in two sizes of packages: 36 tablets, 25c, and 12 tablets, 10c. The Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

Paris Doctors May Wear Badges.

The Paris Medical society is considering asking physicians to wear badges in the streets and public places so that they can be easily found in case of accidents. It is not infrequent for a person in need of medical aid or acting as a messenger for some one who is to run for blocks before encountering a doctor's sign, and at any time he might unknowingly pass a physician.

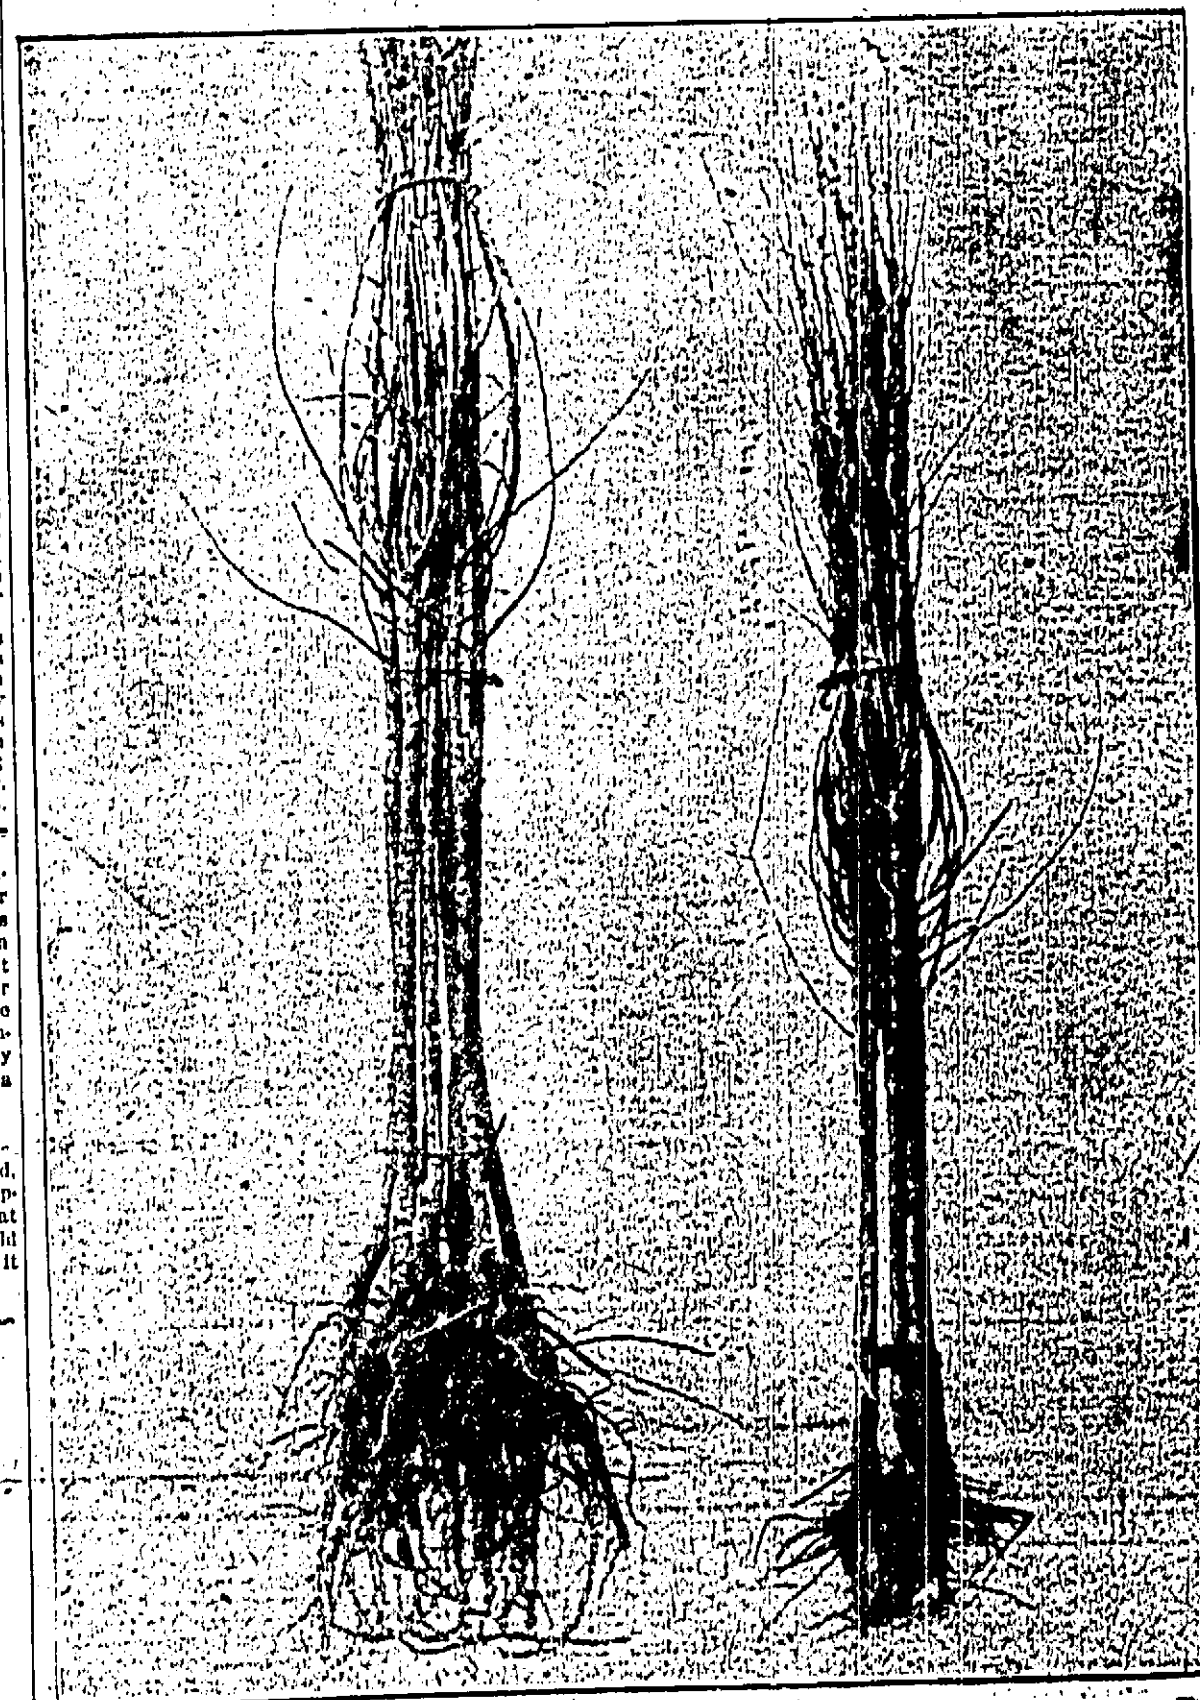

Truth and Error.

"Friction brightens silver and gold. Truth is the world's gold and the opposition it meets is the friction that makes it more luminous. Truth will never have been appreciated had it not been for its dual—error."

JANESVILLE
ELECTRIC CO.PEAT FUEL CO.
GOT THE MONEY

WHERE BOTH MONEY AND COMPANY WENT, NOBODY KNOWS.

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED

Illinois Peat Fuel Co., Capitalized at $1,000,000, Vanishes into Thin Air.

Janesville: Investors, who bought stock in the United States Peat Fuel company, the concern promoted by Dr. W. P. Roberts, and which the promoter claimed was going to put the coal trust entirely out of business, will be interested to know that the Illinois Peat Fuel company, a subsidiary concern of the United States Peat Fuel company, has just disappeared from the business world, and stockholders who bought $500,000 worth of the original $1,000,000 stock issue are vainly looking for some trace of the erstwhile wealth-producing concern. Not a sign of the visible assets of the $1,000,000 corporation can be found, and it appears as if it had simply evaporated, leaving absolutely nothing behind.

The United States Peat Fuel company first appeared to Janesville investors in 1904 under the fostering care of Dr. W. P. Roberts who induced many to subscribe for the stock. The company had a very promising scheme, supplemented by convincing literature and the efforts of the promoter were very successful, in their circulars the United States Peat Fuel company was described as the parent concern, and subsidiary to it were the Manitoba Peat Fuel company and the Illinois Peat Fuel company. The former was capitalized at $150,000 and the latter at $1,000,000.

The Imperial Light, Heat and Power company of Montreal, Canada, was also connected with the United States company. Henry L. Bushnell, the man at the helm, was stated to be a "Napoleon of finance" and stockholders were promised that under his management their stock would yield fabulous returns. The story prospects of the company whose "peat briquettes" were going to cut the coal trust wide open, failed to materialize, and the only way in which Henry D. Bushnell proved himself a "Napoleon" was in feathering his own nest. To all intents and purposes, the United States Peat Fuel company gave up the ghost, and local stockholders bade their money a last farewell.

These stockholders who put their money in the Illinois Peat Fuel company had more time if not more foundation for dreaming about their prospective profits. But yesterday they were disillusioned when the American Peat and Fertilizer company, another Chicago corporation, sent them a circular offering to take up their stock in the Illinois Peat Fuel company if they would pay a bonus of 15 per cent of their holdings in cash. This proposition naturally brought forth anxious inquiries as to the whereabouts of the Illinois company, but a thorough search failed to unearth any trace of the corporation. Officials of the American Peat and Fertilizer company state that there is no connection between their company and the vanished Illinois Peat Fuel company, and that their action in taking up the stock is pure charity as they will make nothing by it.

Investigation, however, disclosed the fact that J. D. Dennison, who was secretary-treasurer of the Illinois corporation, is secretary-treasurer of the American company. When asked what he could tell of the company with which he was formerly connected, Mr. Dennison said that he knew practically nothing of the $500,000 received from the sale of the stock; he was asked.

"It all went to the United States Peat Fuel company for valuable contracts," was the reply.
"Where is the United States Peat Fuel company?"
"It has gone out of business on account of mismanagement," was Mr. Dennison's reply.

"Have you any financial statement that might explain the whereabouts of the missing funds?"
"No, I do not know anything about the money. I resigned from the Illinois corporation about two years ago and do not know what became of the money."

When asked what sums had been paid to the United States Peat Fuel company, Mr. Dennison said that he remembered that $2,000 had been paid on one occasion and that $1,500 had been paid on another. With the exception of this $3,500 he could make no statement as to what had become of the $500,000 received for the capital stock of the Illinois corporation.

As the vanished Illinois Peat Fuel company is an Illinois corporation, and considerable more than half of the $500,000 paid in came from residents of Chicago, investigations will undoubtedly be made, and since any inquiry into the actions of the Illinois corporation would inevitably bring in the parent organization, the United States Peat Fuel company, Janesville people who invested in the main concern will have the opportunity of learning what was done with their money.

TOBACCO OUTLOOK
THROUGHOUT STATE

Edgerton Reporter Talks on the Last Year's Sales and Outlook for Present Season.

The outlook in the market still continues and is liable to remain so for some time to come. Not only is the buying nearly closed for the season, but the movement in old goods is at a standstill. Manufacturers and jobbers are calling for but little of the cured goods as yet. It is currently reported that John Hamilton of Janesville has sold about 500 cases of "big and 67" and one or two small deals are about ready to be closed in this city.

Warehouse handling is nearing the end, as next week will see some of the largest houses closed for the season.

The warm spell the past few days induced a few growers to prepare the beds, but the wisest ones will wait for settled weather.

The shipments out of storage reach 716 cases and 6 carloads of bundle goods the past week. Since last report 21 carloads have been received.

The 1908 crop is now so well moved out of first hands that a fairly good estimate can be made of the average price realized by growers, as well as the influence of returns obtained may have upon the probable average to be planned for the coming season. As is well known the early buying brought into remunerative prices so that by the time half the crop was taken over the great bulk of it had brought the growers from 9 to 11 cents for the grades. After the first rush of buying had subsided the American Tobacco Co. came into the field and began taking over the lower grade crops at reduced prices ranging from 6 to 7 1/2 cents. At the latter figures probably close to one-third of the crop has been removed. If one were to attempt to strike an average they would arrive at something like 8 1/2 cents, possibly a trifle more.

Of course this is not a very fat profit to the grower, but at this figure tobacco growing yields fair returns. However, it is hardly enough to encourage farmers to increase their acreage and on the other hand is not lean enough to curtail the acreage in the older growing sections. On the whole, the results from a crop that at no time was considered hardly up to the average of Wisconsin tobacco ought not to be a determining factor in influencing the acreage to be planted the coming season. If it reaches 35,000 to 40,000 acres it will be ample for the needs of the market.

One thing should be borne in mind, there is no visible surplus of old stock on hand to stabilize market conditions. But for the remnants of the "high priced" '08 leaf yet unsold there is very little.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

THE trials that the new husband goes through with his mother-in-law have been flouted before the world for centuries. The mother-in-law joke was one of the original ten on which all jokes are founded.

But why has so little been said about the trials, the tribulations, the annoyances, the criticisms that Mrs. Newlywed has to endure from her father and mother-in-law?

Why, indeed? Well, to answer my own query, I suppose it is largely because women are so much accustomed to enduring their lot in life whatever it be, without protest that the trials which Mrs. Daughter-in-law has to undergo are shrouded in oblivion.

Among all my acquaintances I do not recall a single case where the husband really has anything to endure from his parents-in-law. On the other hand I do know of several homes where the wife suffers from the selfishness of her husband's father and mother.

In all of these cases, the young married people live with the husband's parents. Some, perhaps, because the old folks want to see their son living in a better home than he could provide for himself, and others because the old people are unwilling to yet give up an only son.

One such young bride, who is just dying to potter about a dear, shiny new kitchen and cook up wonderful concoctions for two, is obliged to assist her mother-in-law in getting the prosaic meals for four.

I know another woman who went to her husband's home for "a year or two." It was 27 years before she was mistress of a home of her own.

During all this time she was always more or less under the rule of a rather autocratic father and mother-in-law. The surveillance they had always kept over a younger son they extended to her. In her goings and comings, her choice of friends, in the way she brought up her children they felt at liberty to interfere.

It was not that they were not kind to her. They were very kind in their autocratic way, that while it gave material benefits, took away freedom.

Far too many enter into such arrangements every year and I have no doubt it is partly because the women who have tried the experiment and found it an utter failure, with women's inherent meekness have failed to protest loudly enough to impress a realization of their trials upon the world.

Little stock in country packers' hands to draw from to meet the needs of manufacturers if business should regain its normal proportions. This getting-back-to-normal levels of prices has been a long, tedious process. Manufacturers have been living on a hand-to-mouth policy for a year now, all the time hoping the bottom had been reached before laying in their usual surplus of stock. They can hardly continue along this line indefinitely, some time they must replenish their stores and then the real condition of the blunder market will be apparent.

Then we may see a return of such a revival of the four market as has been witnessed often in this state. Unless all signs fail, it cannot be a long time coming, either. Continued business depression along can delay it, and the sooner congress disposes of the present tariff agitation the sooner business will get back to nearer normal conditions.

RETURNS CANVASSED
BY COMMON COUNCIL

At a Special Meeting Held Last Evening—New Administration to Be Organized on the 22nd.

At a special meeting of the common council last evening the returns from the recent municipal election were canvassed and a resolution declaring the various city candidates elected was passed. In accordance with instructions the statutes of the vote on county candidates were turned over to the county board canvassing committee today. Next Monday evening the present council will hold a regular meeting and there will be an adjourned session on Monday, April 19, to approve of the bonds of the newly elected members. It is probable that Alderman-elect Kimball and Evans, who were named to fill vacancies, will be permitted to take their seats at the next meeting. The new administration will begin its duties on April 20 and a meeting for organization will probably be called on April 22, at which time Mayor-elect Curtis will deliver his inaugural address and appoint the committee and the council will elect a city engineer, health officer, street commissioner, and a janitor of the city hall.

Undertaking

22 & 24 W. MILWAUKEE ST.

Well, that was a kind of power, even for Mr. James Oppor Hopper Know-it-All. He commenced to tell about society and pink teas—I guess 'twas pink; might have been sky-blue though—and races and opera parties and stocks, and "strenuous life" and the land knows what. It seemed to simmer down finally to that book, "The Natural Life." "Blessed" there was a kind of cross around New York and the allies, stirred up by that book, to get clear of luxury and comfort and good things and so on, and got to living like poor folks. Living the "Natural Life," the valet called it.

"So?" says I, thinking of how I had to scratch to keep body and soul together. "I've been right in style all my days and didn't know it. I'm going, cranberrying and fishing and clamming and taking gangs of summer folks out on snook parties is the proper thing, hey? And your boss and his chum want to live simpler?"

Yes, he said—they wanted to live real simple.

"Well," says I, "if Huldry Ann Scudder cooks for 'em that's the way they'll live."

He went on with another rigmarole about how the Howlandes had lived in New York. Cutting out everything about himself and that British lord—which was two-thirds of the yarn—there was some stuff about a girl named Page that interested me. Seems she was the real thing in society, too. Had money and good looks and fine clothes—all the strenuous nuisances. And she was engaged to Hartley once, but they had a row or something and broke it off. And now she was engaged to Van Brunt.

"But, see here," I says, puzzled. "If she's engaged to Van why ain't he to home courting her instead of dispat'ing on baked beans and thin feather beds over to Scudder's? Why ain't he to home in New York getting ready to be married?"

Well, the marriage, so James said, was to be arranged later. Noar as I could find out Van and this Agnes Page had mighty little to do with the marrying. 'Twas their folks that was fixing that up. Agnes herself had gone to Europe with her ma. When she was to home she was great on charity. She done settlement work, whatever that is, and her one idea in life was to feed ice cream to children that hankered for fishballs and brown bread. This wasn't exactly the way Lord James give it out, but 'twas about the sense of it.

"Yes, yes," says I. "But how does Hartley like chumming around with the feller that's going to marry his old girl?"

It appeared that that was all right. Hartley and Van was chums; loved each other like brothers—or better. Little thing like a girl or two didn't count. Hartley was kind of used up and blue and down on his luck and suffering from the Natural Life disease; he wanted to cut for simplicity and Nature. So Van, havin' a touch of the Natural himself, come along to keep him company.

"But this Page girl," says I. "How does she feel on the Natural Life question?"

"Oh, she believes in it, too," says his lordship. "Only she's more interested in 'er charity and 'elping the poor and heduating 'em," says he. "I fetched a long-breath." "Well, Mr. Oppor-Hopper, I mean—" I says, "you can say what you want to, but I'll still hang on to my first notion. I think the whole crew is stark, raving crazy."

I noticed that he hadn't been pulling at my clear much—a good five-cent Bluebell cigar 'twas, too. Now he put it down, kind of like 'twas loaded. "My good feller," he says, "Would you mind if I tried one of me own weeds? 'Avo one yourself," says he. I took the cigar he handed me. It was one of Van Brunt's particular brand.

"Bumph!" thinks I, "your bossens may be simptoms for the love of it. Brother James, but not you. No, sir!—You're in it for the value of the man-ifest."

In another half hour or so the Heavenly Twins showed up alongside. And then 'twould have done you good to see that valet's back get limber. He bowed and scraped and "Sirred," till you couldn't rest. They spoke to him like he was a dog and he skipped around with his tail between his legs like he was one—a yellow one, at that.

When we'd passed the point out comes that over-laying book and the Twins got at it.

"Van," says Martin Hartley, setting up and taking notice; "the Natural Life for mine. I envy the lucky devils who've had it all their lives."

"Twasn't none of my affairs, but I shoved my ear in here—couldn't help it."

"You fellows ain't getting the real article—not yet," says I. "There's a hotel over back of the village where the boarders get the genuine simple life—no frills included."

"Where's that, skipper?" says Van Brunt. "What's its name?"

"Well," says I, "folks round here call it the poorhouse."

Then they both laughed. Good nice fellows, as I said afore, even if they was crazy.

ably wrote on the seamer. It was a fast boat and, allowing that the letter came back immediately—well, I don't know that it is time yet."

He began to whistle. I gathered that 'twas the Page girl he was talking about. The valet had told about her going on a trip to Europe. But he struck me that, for an engaged man, Van Brunt was the easiest in his mind of anybody ever I see. I've never been engaged myself, but judging by them I've known who was, he'd ought to be shooting telegrams to Europe faster than you could shake 'em out of a pepper box.

Neither of 'em spoke for a minute. Then Hartley asked, quiet as usual: "Have you written her, Van?"

"Oh, yes; dropped a line the other day, telling her we were safe and duly housed and so on. Whooped up the joys of the 'Natural' and begged her to go thou and do likewise." Which she would like to do, probably, but which also—if I know her highly respected mamma—she won't.

"Where did you address your letter?" Hartley asks, after a little.

"Liverpool, care of her usual hotel. She'll get it all right—always provided she hasn't already organized a settlement colony of small Hooligans in the Liverpool slums. But there! Her's forgot morals and matrimony. Hooligh! Wonder what's doing in the Street? Not that I care a red."

They seemed to have forgot me altogether. But I was interested in their talk all the same, and I've tried to put it down just as I heard it. 'Twas queer talk, but they was queer folks, and I was learning how the big-bugs done their courting. From what I'd heard so far I liked the Wellmouth way full as well.

"The front gate-clicked. Van Brunt looked up. 'Great Scott!' says he, 'it's the phonograph.'

'Twas Hannah Jane Purvis coming home from the next house with a disapproving full of peas. Hannah was a kind of scant, pattered cracker without much canvas on her poles and her sleeves most generally rolled up. She had bristled her clewed back so tight of her forehead that her eyes wouldn't shut good, and the impression you got from the first look at her was that she was all square corners—not a round one in the lot.

"Well," says she, coming up into the wind in front of the piazza and looking at me hard. "I do believe it's Solomon Pratt. Why, what a stranger you be! I ain't seen you for I don't know how long."

I didn't know when either and I didn't try to remember. "Sufficient unto the day is the trouble belonging to it," the Scriptures say, if I recollect it right, and 'twas enough for me that she'd seen me this time. She comes over, disapproves and all, and planks herself down on the steps right in front of Van Brunt's chair. There ain't nothing shy or unfriendly about Hannah Jane; she's the most folksy female I ever come across, and always was.

One Woman's Scheme.
The thrifty wife of an officer in our army saw no reason why the big sheets of linen paper covered with figures and calculations should be thrown away. She begged all she could get, soaked them, and for her reward had enough fine linen to make frocks and blouses for the family. The ink does not go through the surface finish and so a perfect treasure lies underneath to be had for a bit of hot water and the asking.

PUTTING paint on costs three or four times as much as the paint; the property is probably worth fifty times both.

Devco Lead-and-Zinc Paint is better than hand-mixing can make.

GIRL OF 17 CAN BE SPANKED.
Detroit Judge Decides Her Father Has the Right.

Detroit, Mich., Apr. 9.—In the police court Justice Jeffries upheld the right of a father to administer the old-fashioned spanking to his 17-year-old daughter, even if her dignity suffered. Margaret Craizin had her father arrested for disturbing the peace after a spanking.

Craizin told the judge that the punishment was part of an effort to keep his daughter away from cheap theaters, and the justice decided that spanking young women of 17 was permissible in moderation.

MINISTER IS THREATENED.
Sham Wedding Stirrs ire of Washington (Ind.) Citizens.

Washington, Ind., Apr. 9.—Sensation follows sensation in the Rev. E. Davidson and Miss Laura Bunn Clark marriage episode.

Citizens continue to gather in groups and discuss the sensation and loud talk of forming a mob and waiting on the minister with a bucket of tar and feathers, and even more serious threats have openly been made upon the streets.

Davidson has tendered his resignation to the church trustees.

Railroad Officers Resign.
Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 9.—D. C. Noonan, general superintendent of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, has resigned his office. Mr. Noonan will leave Minneapolis for Watertown, S. D., where he will engage in business. W. D. Wheeler, chief engineer of the company, also tendered his resignation, and J. G. Kenly has been appointed to succeed him.

Fire Makes 600 Homeless.
Manchester, N. H., Apr. 9.—A large portion of the tenement house district, just south of the business center of this city, was wiped out by fire yesterday. It destroyed about fifty wooden, three and four-story buildings. Six hundred men, women and children, mostly Greeks, were made homeless, and the loss is estimated at about $150,000.
